Dealers in Medicine.

Harley's Sarsaparilla commands the largest and best preparation before the public. When purchasing stock be sure and take no other.

—dewsm.

The press at all points below Mayville—down even to the mouth of the Ohio river—utters loud complaints in regard to the condition of the coal market. At some points the supply of coal is completely exhausted, and at others, the prices, as in Louisville, for instance, have reached a figure but little below a freezing point to the poor. And yet we of Kentucky depend on Pennsylvania for our coal, and the Ohio river as a means of transporting it hither, when our own State abounds in rich coal fields within sixty or seventy miles of Louisville. If we have energy enough left to feed ourselves, can we not also make some little effort to keep warm and comfortable? The people pay out of their own pockets annually nearly enough, over and above a fair market price, to place us in direct communication by railroad with the Grayson county coal mine. Should we not help ourselves, or must we submit all manufactures and sell ourselves up in blankets and await the "good time coming," when the Ohio, now a "spring branch," shall get to be a river again, and a fleet of coal boats leave Pittsburgh, destined for our use?

Miss Eliza Campbell in Court.

A high state of excitement has existed in certain circles for some days, induced by the publication and circulation of a circular, which contained personalities very offensive to Mr. Thomas M. Oliver, merchant tailor of this city, R. B. Carpenter, and John W. Sharp, Esq., attorneys of Lugo, and Nat. Wolfe, Sherrard Williams, and Lovell Russell, Esq.s, members of the legal profession of this city; Senator Haggan, the member from this city, and perhaps others. The author of this circular is Miss Eliza Campbell, native of Virginia, but well known in this vicinity, and more recently a resident of Boston.

She was arrested, as we announced yesterday morning, upon a warrant issued at the instigation of some of the parties who believed themselves aggrieved, on the charge of circulating a libelous publication, and the charge came up for investigation in the Police Court yesterday.

She made her appearance in court, attended by her attorney, Thomas W. Riley, Esq. There was a great eagerness to see the author of the circular, and to hear the developments which it was expected would be made upon the trial, and the court-room was crowded by a throng of visitors. The lady was dressed without much regard to cost or taste. Her jewels were rich and massive, her apparel was gaudy and costly, and her manner was somewhat extravagant. Her features indicate that she is of the "non-conformist" school, and her general appearance is suggestive of the self-will and independence of two or three "Betty Trotwoods." An evening paper makes an ungracious allusion to her. So far from having lived out the allotted period of three score and ten, she is yet in the hey-day of life, and her ruddy appearance and seeming youthful vigor gives promise yet of many years of busy life.

The Presenting Attorney read the circular for the satisfaction of the Court, and the edification of the bystanders. During the reading of the document the fair authorites at once exhibited utter indifference, and at another evinced the most pleasurable satisfaction at the rehearsal of sentences which regarded as palpable hits. The proof of her connection with the publication is clearly established, and she was held to bail in the sum of $300 to answer any charge that may be preferred against her, and in $300 to be of available behavior toward the good people of the Commonwealth in general, and the libelous parties in particular. Failing to secure the bail, she was sent to the workshop.

A Princeely Patron of Art.

Everybody knows Nicholas Longworth, Esq., of Cincinnati, a gentleman of princely fortune, and much given to the culture of the wine. Unknown as the fact may generally be, so quiet is our wealthy friend in the dispensation of his favors, Mr. Longworth is one of the best appreciators and patrons of the fine arts in this country. In his private collection is embracing some of the best specimens of pictures East or West. Not only in the matter of buying pictures is he foremost and most liberal, but he has been profuse of his means in the encouragement of the incipient efforts of rising genius. Our memory revert now to half a score of artists in the front ranks of the profession, who date their success from the bestowment of his generosity.

With his increase of fortune, he has not wearied in his kind office, and we learned yesterday by accident, of another display of Mr. Longworth's generosity and taste. Hearing that W. P. Branigan, Esq., of this city, offered twelve of his choice pictures in an art-union drawing, and being familiar with the talent of the distinguished artist, he sent a check upon his bankers in this city to the amount of five shares, and directed the check to be deposited to his order.

Those who have chances in the magnificent drawing which is to come off in a few days, may well begin to consult their lucky stars—for the name of Longworth is a scene of mingled luck and wealth.

BRITAINS' OUT.—The residence of Mr. Charles Q. Armstrong, in Walnut street, between East and First, was broken open on Monday night. The thief or thieves after effecting an entrance lighted a candle and deliberately proceeded to ransack the house. It is supposed that their intention was to carry off a quantity of silver plate; but they did not succeed in finding it, and left the premises without taking anything. Mrs. Armstrong was sleeping in the room adjoining the one in which the burglars were carrying on their operations, and overheard them, but was so much frightened that she was unable to give the alarm.

BANK OF EAST TENNESSEE.—A great many was made on Saturday evening, as to the insolvency of the Bank of East Tennessee. Some sinister person gave publicity to the false report, and certain brokers realized a handsome return by means of the villainy. Like most of the Banks, of course this same East Tennessee institution will fail in time—for Banks are usually chartered for that purpose—but it is just a question of time with the Bank of East Tennessee. Her notes are as good as any other paper with a steamboat pilot upon it.

DEALING IN OTHER PEOPLE'S CATTLE.—John Jones, alias James Green, and William McCormick, slave of Mrs. McCormick, were arraigned before the Police Court yesterday, on a charge of stealing three beef cattle. Jones sold the cattle to a butcher, and an officer arrested the parties and obtained the money paid for the cattle, which he now has in his possession. In default of bail, Jones was sent to the work-house, and the negro was committed, subject to the order of his master.

A STRANGENESS.—A party of three negroes, Schofer, Tom, and Sam, slaves, were before the Police Court yesterday, charged with attempting to steal a shawl from Mr. Freiburg, who keeps a store in Market street, between Preston and Floyd. Tom seemed to be the guilty one, and he was sentenced to receive fifteen stripes.

HALE FELLOW.—Henry Hale was brought before the Police Court yesterday, charged with carrying a three-barrel pistol as a concealed weapon. Hale had interfered with Officer Hall in making an arrest. He was held to bail in $300 to be of good behavior six months, and in $100 to answer an indictment.

Mr. Hurty, a teacher in one of the public schools in Richmond, Wayne county, Ind., was fined by a jury $2 and costs for whipping a boy pupil "immoderate and excessive."

There are now one hundred and sixteen counties in the flourishing State of Texas, and territory for as many more.

A Retrospective View.

It is very pleasant, and not wholly unprofitable, sometimes to look back through the subtile light of ages and contemplate first principles and small beginnings. With our easy population of seven thousand, and all our landed and commercial wealth of the present day, it requires an effort of the mind to imagine that "Louisville" was once without a local habitation. To-night we shall have a dance from Miss Waldegrave, a son from Mr. Bernard, and the afterpiece Domestic Comfort.

We learn that Second Lieutenant Israel Miller, Ninth Infantry, was lost on the night of the 30th of September from the steamboat Mary, on the Columbia river, between the Cascades of that river and Fort Dalles, Oregon river. It is supposed that he fell overboard.

THANKSGIVING.—To-morrow (Thursday) the 20th inst., is thanksgiving day in this Commonwealth. We make the announcement as a reminder to such as have made no preparation for the important event.

THE OFFICIAL VOTE IN DELAWARE.—Delaware received 8,003 votes, Fillmore, $1,756, Fremont, $305. Buchanan's plurality over Fillmore, 1,428. His majority over all, 1,522.

GREAT MUSICAL TREAT.—Strakosch's grand concert company, with Miss Teresa Parodi at their head, will give one concert in Louisville, on Monday evening, November 24th.

GRAND JURY.—Sixteen citizens were summoned before the Police Court yesterday and empaneled as a Grand Jury, and charged to act in that capacity the remainder of the month.

THE NEW ORLEANS PIQUEAU.—of the 11th last, announces the death of Mr. Som' C. Bell, cashier of the Canal Bank of New Orleans.

PIRE.—The fire last evening was in Fifth street, near Corran. An ice-house was consumed, and the contents somewhat damaged by water.

JOSEPH DAVIS, late of Lexington, Ky., died at Dugham, Kansas Territory, on the 22d of October last.

DECISION REQUESTED.—Before the Police Court yesterday.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, Washington, D. C., 23, 1856

I have carefully examined the question involved in the appeal of J. Y. Bryant, from the decision of the Commissioner of Land Patents, in favor of Michael Hanson and James Dempsey, Son, of the United States army, for county land for the construction of buildings on each a dwelling house, sixteen feet by twenty, at least, with a brick stone chimney, to be finished within two years from the day of sale, as follows: That the Commissioner of Land Patents, in his opinion, is entitled to hold the said lots, subject to the conditions of the sale, and to the payment of the money arising from such sale, to the Trustee, for the uses hereinbefore mentioned, that is to say: if the money arising from the sale of the lots, and the payment of the taxes on the same, which shall be paid by the said Trustee into the Treasury of this Commonwealth and the overplus, if any, shall be lodged with the court or the county of Jefferson, to enable them to defray the expenses of erecting the public buildings of the said county: Provided, that the owners of the said lots, shall be entitled to receive the sum of thirty dollars for each half acre, and shall be thereafter subject to the same obligations of setting, as other lot-holders within said town.

AN ALLEGED MURDERER DISPROVED.—

The Worcester Transcript contains an account of an alleged murder in Rutland, in that country, of which the following are the principal features: In 1854, a young man, named Chester Spear, at Rutland, suddenly disappeared, and a rumor started that he had been murdered. The police of Rutland, and a number of persons in the neighborhood, and accused a Mr. Darling, for whom Spear's body, or his murderer, told him that if he wished to save his life from the bolder he could do so by paying him (Preston) some money. Mr. Darling thought some no lie should be made to the public concerning the public buildings of the town, and consequently he could not arrest or prosecute him for robbing the poor. For a time he was a popular character, and was held in high estimation by the people of Rutland.

Some two months ago a young man who had been living near "Grand Hotel" in Rutland, discovered a human skull and a portion of a human skeleton.

The facts became known, and the disappearance of the young man was attributed to his having been a murderer. He was soon arrested, and his trial was held at Rutland, and he was found guilty of the crime, and condemned to death.

He was executed on Oct. 20, 1856, at Rutland, and his body was buried in a common grave, and his name was added to the list of the dead.
